

THIS MORNING we shall place on sale 196 Pairs Children's Solar-tipped Button Shoes; sizes, 5 to 7, at 50 cents a pair. This lot will be found somewhat under regular value.

NEW THIS MORNING! We opened a full line of Tan Shades in Undressed Kid Gloves, Seven-button lengths. Price, $1.25 a pair.

Those who are seeking this kind of a GLOVE will find the line to be unusually good quality for the price named.

HOLIDAY GIFTS!

We are gathering together here quite a collection of SUITABLE PRESENTS FOR MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN; useful or ornamental, high-priced or low-priced. We have made extra efforts to place such a variety and assortment of good things before our customers as never before graced our shelves and counters. Already our store has commenced to take on the Holiday Garb, and ere many more days roll round will be in the height of the Holiday Season. NEW THINGS HAVE ARRIVED, and many more will be opened during the week to come. In placing the prices upon these goods, we have simply aimed to mark a fair and uniform profit upon each article, and we believe you will find the values and novelties presented here far better than ever before. An examination can but prove it.

MAIL ORDERS FILLED UPON RECEIPT.

HALE BROS. & CO., Nos. 829, 831, 833, 835 K Street, and 1026 Ninth Street, Sacramento.

Mungadi Janos

The Best and Cheapest Natural Aperient Water. "A NATURAL LAXATIVE, SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS." Prof. MACNAMARA, M.D. of Dublin. "SPEEDY, SURE, and GENTLE." Prof. ROBERTS, F.R.C.P. London. "Relieves the kidneys, unloads the liver, and opens the bowels."

LONDON MEDICAL RECORD.

Ordinary Dose, a Wineglassful before breakfast.

Of all Druggists and Mineral Water Dealers.

NONE GENUINE WITHOUT THE BLUE LABEL.

MILLINERY.

Fall Millinery!

WE RESPECTFULLY INFORM THE LADIES of Sacramento and vicinity that we are prepared to show the Fall Importation of FRENCH HATS AND BONNETS. Also, full lines of NOVELTIES pertaining to the season. Mrs. BARBER & PALMER, 621 J St., bet. Sixth & Seventh, Sacramento. 02-12pm

MARKETS.

TO THE PUBLIC.

HAVING PURCHASED THE INTEREST OF G. W. MOREHOUSE in the

FULTON MEAT MARKET,

Corner Fifth and K Streets, I desire to inform all that in future it will be kept in first-class style. The best of Fresh and Salt Meats, Sausages, etc., Always on hand and sold at the most reasonable rates.

Full weight and square dealing will be the motto.

M. F. ODELL, Proprietor.

722 J Street, Sacramento.

A. D. AND C. L. CHRISTIANSON HAVE consolidated their two markets. With the increased facilities at the Old Stand we are ready to supply the wants of all with the best in the market. Constantly on hand Wild Game, Fresh and Salt Fish, Sausages, Butter and Eggs.

Wholesale and Retail Butcher, Office at NEW YORK MARKET, bet. 1020 and 1022 K Street, Sacramento, Cal. Highest Cash Price paid for Fat Stock of all kinds. All kinds of Meat Fresh Daily and sold at the lowest possible prices. All Meats kept in ice-house attached to shop—a sure guarantee that it is in prime condition at all times.

M. F. ODELL, Proprietor.

ORIENTAL MARKET, No. 418 K Street, Sacramento.

PHIL HARTMAN, THE OLDEST Sausage Maker in the city, is still in the field. All kinds of Sausages made in the cleanest and most careful manner. Also, for sale best Lard in the market; no mution allowed mixed with it.

J. F. HILL, Nos. 1301 to 1323 J Street, Sacramento.

MANUFACTURER OF Carriages, Buggies, Express Wagons, Delivery Cabs, Ash and Hickory Lumber, Hubs, Spokes, Etc. Also, Bone China, Glass, and Pottery. Catalogue sent on request.

MISCELLANEOUS.

For the Holidays

THEO. W. SCHWAMB, No. 804 J Street.

HAS JUST RECEIVED A NEW, NOVEL and choice assortment of

HOLIDAY GOODS

Picture Frames, Wall Pockets, Plush Jewelry, Shaving Cases, Work Boxes, Albums, Picture Books, Yarns, etc., etc. These goods are all new and cheaper than ever before.

A large line of Steel Engravings. Picture Frames made to order.

AT THE

Central Grocery,

No. 1118 J STREET, THE CHOICEST IN THE WAY OF STAPLE as the market will allow.

SALOMON & HAYFORD, 02-12pm

CANDIES

FOR THE MILLION!

We have now in stock for the HOLIDAY TRADE, at Wholesale and Retail:

FANCY BOXES, GLASS BALLS, CORNUCOPIAS.

Fancy and Plain, in Endless Varieties.

NUTS, Etc.

Holiday Candies

Fancy and Plain, in Endless Varieties.

NUTS, Etc.

H. FISHER & CO., 508 and 510 J Street, Sacramento.

Send for Wholesale Price List.

NEUBOURG & LAGES,

Star Mills and Malt House.

HOPS, MALT, PRODUCE, GRAIN, FEED and Brewers' Supplies.

1016, 1018, 1020 Fifth St., Sacramento.

Exchange Sold on all the Principal Cities of Europe.

PAINTS AND OILS.

J. L. CHADDERSON, IMPORTER AND DEALER in Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Window Glass, Mixed Paints, Artists' and Builders' Materials, Wall Paper, etc., No. 24 K St., Sacramento.

NEWS OF THE WORLD.

THE PRESIDENT ADVISED TO STAY IN WASHINGTON.

Georgia Prohibitionists—Faith Curless—The Chinese Question—Foreign Affairs.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

DOMESTIC.

Cabinet Meeting—The President's Message—Hendricks' Funeral.

WASHINGTON, November 27th.—The regular meeting of the Cabinet was held to-day. All the members were present. The President's message, after a brief reading, was read and unanimously approved. It is said to be an unusually strong paper, containing many new and valuable suggestions. The question of attending the funeral of Vice-President Hendricks was considered, and two or three members of the Cabinet said it would be almost impossible for them to leave the city just now without neglecting many matters which it is important should be settled before the meeting of Congress. The President expressed his determination to attend the funeral. His message was almost ready, and could be easily finished on his return from Indianapolis. The President's General and the Secretaries of War and Navy said their reports were ready, and thought they would be able to accompany the President. The Secretary of the Interior thought he could arrange to go with the party. The other members, however, said the affairs of their departments would prevent their leaving the city. The President said he would leave the matter to each member, with the general understanding that all who consistently could go would do so. The party will probably start on Tuesday morning. The details of the trip have been placed in the hands of Colonel Lamont, and have not yet been completed. The President should not leave Washington.

Indiana's Position.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 27th.—In connection with the announced intention of the President to attend Hendricks' obsequies on Tuesday, the Journal of Commerce says: "While the Journal of Commerce of Indianapolis and the State of Indiana would be both proud and pleased to meet the President of the United States, for whom a plurality of them are citizens, a year ago, with such honor and respect as the properties of the sad event of the funeral of the late Vice-President would permit, and while the friends and neighbors of Thos. A. Hendricks fully appreciate the honor that would be done his memory by the presence of the President, the Journal feels constrained to say that it believes Cleveland should not make the journey. The dangers involved in a necessary rapid movement of a special railway train should not be hazarded by the President. The President's health is now peculiarly valuable to the whole people. There are too many risks attending the trip. As was remarked when the honored Vice-President was taken away, it is the unexpected that happens; and against the unexpected, we trust and believe, the improbable, it is Mr. Cleveland's duty to take the most proper precaution. The country has gone through, successfully, many perils during the last quarter of a century, but the line has on more than one occasion been drawn to its highest tension. There should not be a possibility of another strain, if human precaution can prevent it. Every honorable citizen of the country, regardless of party faith, will pray for the life and health of the President, who stands alone now as the embodiment of constitutional power and authority, and for the moment he should leave the Capital until he reached it again in safety, the country would be in a patriotic unrest and uneasiness. The Journal feels free to make its statement as a Republican newspaper, and as one against whom the charge cannot be made that it would do or say anything against the largest public measure of honor to the distinguished dead. But Mr. Cleveland is not his own; he is not his party, he cannot be merely the dictate of his personal or political feelings. He is the nation's head; the only life between the Government and an interested him takes risks incidental to the rapid transit which would mark his journey from the National Capital to Indianapolis. Let the President go to Indianapolis, but let him not leave Washington, but the President should not leave Washington."

"ARREST NONSENSE."

WASHINGTON, November 27th.—The Post (Democrat) will say to-morrow: "Let Mr. Cleveland go to Indianapolis, but let him not leave Washington, but the President should not leave Washington."

The Presidency of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, November 27th.—A caucus of Republican Senators will be held Friday and Saturday of next week, at which a President pro tempore of the Senate will be nominated. The three candidates will be Sherman, Edmunds and Logan. While neither of these gentlemen will discuss the subject, and will take no personal part in the contest, it is not believed that any one of them would decline the honor of the office. Senator Logan's friends say that as he was the chief of the Republican party for the office of Vice-President, it is fitting that he should be elected by the Senate. The President pro tempore of the Senate will be elected by the Senate. The President pro tempore of the Senate will be elected by the Senate. The President pro tempore of the Senate will be elected by the Senate.

Honors to a Jewish Rabbi.

NEW YORK, November 27th.—Dr. Kohler, Rabbi of the Tenth Presbyterian Church, was called to a crowded congregation yesterday on the Sabbath. He was called to the pulpit to deliver a Thanksgiving service yesterday, when he delivered a sermon on the subject of "The Jewish Sabbath." He was called to the pulpit to deliver a sermon on the subject of "The Jewish Sabbath." He was called to the pulpit to deliver a sermon on the subject of "The Jewish Sabbath."

News of Peter Donahue's Death.

NEW YORK, November 27th.—The announcement of Peter Donahue's death caused a sensation among the Wall-Street gamblers who knew deceased. As far as can be learned Donahue was a gambler, and was connected with the Wall-Street gamblers who knew deceased. As far as can be learned Donahue was a gambler, and was connected with the Wall-Street gamblers who knew deceased.

A New Stock Exchange Proposed.

NEW YORK, November 27th.—J. D. Probst and Wm. Lummis, two prominent members of the New York Stock Exchange, are circulating a circular to their members, stating that in view of the fact that the dealings are largely increasing and the question of providing more room is again presenting itself, they urge that a new site be purchased and a new building erected to suffice for the future needs of the Exchange. If the total cost of the ground and building should be placed at $5,000,000, interest at 4 per cent, would be $200,000 annually, and the taxes $50,000, giving a total of $250,000. The new building would have 200 offices for rent and bring in a rental of $150,000. This proposition is being widely and favorably discussed in Wall Street to-day.

A Cadaver Missing.

ATLANTA, November 27th.—While the funeral of John Harvey was in progress it was noticed that the coffin was very light.

THE PRESIDENT ADVISED TO STAY IN WASHINGTON.

Georgia Prohibitionists—Faith Curless—The Chinese Question—Foreign Affairs.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

DOMESTIC.

Cabinet Meeting—The President's Message—Hendricks' Funeral.

WASHINGTON, November 27th.—The regular meeting of the Cabinet was held to-day. All the members were present. The President's message, after a brief reading, was read and unanimously approved. It is said to be an unusually strong paper, containing many new and valuable suggestions. The question of attending the funeral of Vice-President Hendricks was considered, and two or three members of the Cabinet said it would be almost impossible for them to leave the city just now without neglecting many matters which it is important should be settled before the meeting of Congress. The President expressed his determination to attend the funeral. His message was almost ready, and could be easily finished on his return from Indianapolis. The President's General and the Secretaries of War and Navy said their reports were ready, and thought they would be able to accompany the President. The Secretary of the Interior thought he could arrange to go with the party. The other members, however, said the affairs of their departments would prevent their leaving the city. The President said he would leave the matter to each member, with the general understanding that all who consistently could go would do so. The party will probably start on Tuesday morning. The details of the trip have been placed in the hands of Colonel Lamont, and have not yet been completed. The President should not leave Washington.

Indiana's Position.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 27th.—In connection with the announced intention of the President to attend Hendricks' obsequies on Tuesday, the Journal of Commerce says: "While the Journal of Commerce of Indianapolis and the State of Indiana would be both proud and pleased to meet the President of the United States, for whom a plurality of them are citizens, a year ago, with such honor and respect as the properties of the sad event of the funeral of the late Vice-President would permit, and while the friends and neighbors of Thos. A. Hendricks fully appreciate the honor that would be done his memory by the presence of the President, the Journal feels constrained to say that it believes Cleveland should not make the journey. The dangers involved in a necessary rapid movement of a special railway train should not be hazarded by the President. The President's health is now peculiarly valuable to the whole people. There are too many risks attending the trip. As was remarked when the honored Vice-President was taken away, it is the unexpected that happens; and against the unexpected, we trust and believe, the improbable, it is Mr. Cleveland's duty to take the most proper precaution. The country has gone through, successfully, many perils during the last quarter of a century, but the line has on more than one occasion been drawn to its highest tension. There should not be a possibility of another strain, if human precaution can prevent it. Every honorable citizen of the country, regardless of party faith, will pray for the life and health of the President, who stands alone now as the embodiment of constitutional power and authority, and for the moment he should leave the Capital until he reached it again in safety, the country would be in a patriotic unrest and uneasiness. The Journal feels free to make its statement as a Republican newspaper, and as one against whom the charge cannot be made that it would do or say anything against the largest public measure of honor to the distinguished dead. But Mr. Cleveland is not his own; he is not his party, he cannot be merely the dictate of his personal or political feelings. He is the nation's head; the only life between the Government and an interested him takes risks incidental to the rapid transit which would mark his journey from the National Capital to Indianapolis. Let the President go to Indianapolis, but let him not leave Washington, but the President should not leave Washington."

"ARREST NONSENSE."

WASHINGTON, November 27th.—The Post (Democrat) will say to-morrow: "Let Mr. Cleveland go to Indianapolis, but let him not leave Washington, but the President should not leave Washington."

The Presidency of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, November 27th.—A caucus of Republican Senators will be held Friday and Saturday of next week, at which a President pro tempore of the Senate will be nominated. The three candidates will be Sherman, Edmunds and Logan. While neither of these gentlemen will discuss the subject, and will take no personal part in the contest, it is not believed that any one of them would decline the honor of the office. Senator Logan's friends say that as he was the chief of the Republican party for the office of Vice-President, it is fitting that he should be elected by the Senate. The President pro tempore of the Senate will be elected by the Senate. The President pro tempore of the Senate will be elected by the Senate.

Honors to a Jewish Rabbi.

NEW YORK, November 27th.—Dr. Kohler, Rabbi of the Tenth Presbyterian Church, was called to a crowded congregation yesterday on the Sabbath. He was called to the pulpit to deliver a Thanksgiving service yesterday, when he delivered a sermon on the subject of "The Jewish Sabbath." He was called to the pulpit to deliver a sermon on the subject of "The Jewish Sabbath." He was called to the pulpit to deliver a sermon on the subject of "The Jewish Sabbath."

News of Peter Donahue's Death.

NEW YORK, November 27th.—The announcement of Peter Donahue's death caused a sensation among the Wall-Street gamblers who knew deceased. As far as can be learned Donahue was a gambler, and was connected with the Wall-Street gamblers who knew deceased. As far as can be learned Donahue was a gambler, and was connected with the Wall-Street gamblers who knew deceased.

A New Stock Exchange Proposed.

NEW YORK, November 27th.—J. D. Probst and Wm. Lummis, two prominent members of the New York Stock Exchange, are circulating a circular to their members, stating that in view of the fact that the dealings are largely increasing and the question of providing more room is again presenting itself, they urge that a new site be purchased and a new building erected to suffice for the future needs of the Exchange. If the total cost of the ground and building should be placed at $5,000,000, interest at 4 per cent, would be $200,000 annually, and the taxes $50,000, giving a total of $250,000. The new building would have 200 offices for rent and bring in a rental of $150,000. This proposition is being widely and favorably discussed in Wall Street to-day.

A Cadaver Missing.

ATLANTA, November 27th.—While the funeral of John Harvey was in progress it was noticed that the coffin was very light.

THE PRESIDENT ADVISED TO STAY IN WASHINGTON.

Georgia Prohibitionists—Faith Curless—The Chinese Question—Foreign Affairs.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

DOMESTIC.

Cabinet Meeting—The President's Message—Hendricks' Funeral.

WASHINGTON, November 27th.—The regular meeting of the Cabinet was held to-day. All the members were present. The President's message, after a brief reading, was read and unanimously approved. It is said to be an unusually strong paper, containing many new and valuable suggestions. The question of attending the funeral of Vice-President Hendricks was considered, and two or three members of the Cabinet said it would be almost impossible for them to leave the city just now without neglecting many matters which it is important should be settled before the meeting of Congress. The President expressed his determination to attend the funeral. His message was almost ready, and could be easily finished on his return from Indianapolis. The President's General and the Secretaries of War and Navy said their reports were ready, and thought they would be able to accompany the President. The Secretary of the Interior thought he could arrange to go with the party. The other members, however, said the affairs of their departments would prevent their leaving the city. The President said he would leave the matter to each member, with the general understanding that all who consistently could go would do so. The party will probably start on Tuesday morning. The details of the trip have been placed in the hands of Colonel Lamont, and have not yet been completed. The President should not leave Washington.

Indiana's Position.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 27th.—In connection with the announced intention of the President to attend Hendricks' obsequies on Tuesday, the Journal of Commerce says: "While the Journal of Commerce of Indianapolis and the State of Indiana would be both proud and pleased to meet the President of the United States, for whom a plurality of them are citizens, a year ago, with such honor and respect as the properties of the sad event of the funeral of the late Vice-President would permit, and while the friends and neighbors of Thos. A. Hendricks fully appreciate the honor that would be done his memory by the presence of the President, the Journal feels constrained to say that it believes Cleveland should not make the journey. The dangers involved in a necessary rapid movement of a special railway train should not be hazarded by the President. The President's health is now peculiarly valuable to the whole people. There are too many risks attending the trip. As was remarked when the honored Vice-President was taken away, it is the unexpected that happens; and against the unexpected, we trust and believe, the improbable, it is Mr. Cleveland's duty to take the most proper precaution. The country has gone through, successfully, many perils during the last quarter of a century, but the line has on more than one occasion been drawn to its highest tension. There should not be a possibility of another strain, if human precaution can prevent it. Every honorable citizen of the country, regardless of party faith, will pray for the life and health of the President, who stands alone now as the embodiment of constitutional power and authority, and for the moment he should leave the Capital until he reached it again in safety, the country would be in a patriotic unrest and uneasiness. The Journal feels free to make its statement as a Republican newspaper, and as one against whom the charge cannot be made that it would do or say anything against the largest public measure of honor to the distinguished dead. But Mr. Cleveland is not his own; he is not his party, he cannot be merely the dictate of his personal or political feelings. He is the nation's head; the only life between the Government and an interested him takes risks incidental to the rapid transit which would mark his journey from the National Capital to Indianapolis. Let the President go to Indianapolis, but let him not leave Washington, but the President should not leave Washington."

"ARREST NONSENSE."

WASHINGTON, November 27th.—The Post (Democrat) will say to-morrow: "Let Mr. Cleveland go to Indianapolis, but let him not leave Washington, but the President should not leave Washington."

The Presidency of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, November 27th.—A caucus of Republican Senators will be held Friday and Saturday of next week, at which a President pro tempore of the Senate will be nominated. The three candidates will be Sherman, Edmunds and Logan. While neither of these gentlemen will discuss the subject, and will take no personal part in the contest, it is not believed that any one of them would decline the honor of the office. Senator Logan's friends say that as he was the chief of the Republican party for the office of Vice-President, it is fitting that he should be elected by the Senate. The President pro tempore of the Senate will be elected by the Senate. The President pro tempore of the Senate will be elected by the Senate.

Honors to a Jewish Rabbi.

NEW YORK, November 27th.—Dr. Kohler, Rabbi of the Tenth Presbyterian Church, was called to a crowded congregation yesterday on the Sabbath. He was called to the pulpit to deliver a Thanksgiving service yesterday, when he delivered a sermon on the subject of "The Jewish Sabbath." He was called to the pulpit to deliver a sermon on the subject of "The Jewish Sabbath." He was called to the pulpit to deliver a sermon on the subject of "The Jewish Sabbath."

News of Peter Donahue's Death.

NEW YORK, November 27th.—The announcement of Peter Donahue's death caused a sensation among the Wall-Street gamblers who knew deceased. As far as can be learned Donahue was a gambler, and was connected with the Wall-Street gamblers who knew deceased. As far as can be learned Donahue was a gambler, and was connected with the Wall-Street gamblers who knew deceased.

A New Stock Exchange Proposed.

NEW YORK, November 27th.—J. D. Probst and Wm. Lummis, two prominent members of the New York Stock Exchange, are circulating a circular to their members, stating that in view of the fact that the dealings are largely increasing and the question of providing more room is again presenting itself, they urge that a new site be purchased and a new building erected to suffice for the future needs of the Exchange. If the total cost of the ground and building should be placed at $5,000,000, interest at 4 per cent, would be $200,000 annually, and the taxes $50,000, giving a total of $250,000. The new building would have 200 offices for rent and bring in a rental of $150,000. This proposition is being widely and favorably discussed in Wall Street to-day.

A Cadaver Missing.

ATLANTA, November 27th.—While the funeral of John Harvey was in progress it was noticed that the coffin was very light.

THE PRESIDENT ADVISED TO STAY IN WASHINGTON.

Georgia Prohibitionists—Faith Curless—The Chinese Question—Foreign Affairs.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

DOMESTIC.

Cabinet Meeting—The President's Message—Hendricks' Funeral.

WASHINGTON, November 27th.—The regular meeting of the Cabinet was held to-day. All the members were present. The President's message, after a brief reading, was read and unanimously approved. It is said to be an unusually strong paper, containing many new and valuable suggestions. The question of attending the funeral of Vice-President Hendricks was considered, and two or three members of the Cabinet said it would be almost impossible for them to leave the city just now without neglecting many matters which it is important should be settled before the meeting of Congress. The President expressed his determination to attend the funeral. His message was almost ready, and could be easily finished on his return from Indianapolis. The President's General and the Secretaries of War and Navy said their reports were ready, and thought they would be able to accompany the President. The Secretary of the Interior thought he could arrange to go with the party. The other members, however, said the affairs of their departments would prevent their leaving the city. The President said he would leave the matter to each member, with the general understanding that all who consistently could go would do so. The party will probably start on Tuesday morning. The details of the trip have been placed in the hands of Colonel Lamont, and have not yet been completed. The President should not leave Washington.

Indiana's Position.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 27th.—In connection with the announced intention of the President to attend Hendricks' obsequies on Tuesday, the Journal of Commerce says: "While the Journal of Commerce of Indianapolis and the State of Indiana would be both proud and pleased to meet the President of the United States, for whom a plurality of them are citizens, a year ago, with such honor and respect as the properties of the sad event of the funeral of the late Vice-President would permit, and while the friends and neighbors of Thos. A. Hendricks fully appreciate the honor that would be done his memory by the presence of the President, the Journal feels constrained to say that it believes Cleveland should not make the journey. The dangers involved in a necessary rapid movement of a special railway train should not be hazarded by the President. The President's health is now peculiarly valuable to the whole people. There are too many risks attending the trip. As was remarked when the honored Vice-President was taken away, it is the unexpected that happens; and against the unexpected, we trust and believe, the improbable, it is Mr. Cleveland's duty to take the most proper precaution. The country has gone through, successfully, many perils during the last quarter of a century, but the line has on more than one occasion been drawn to its highest tension. There should not be a possibility of another strain, if human precaution can prevent it. Every honorable citizen of the country, regardless of party faith, will pray for the life and health of the President, who stands alone now as the embodiment of constitutional power and authority, and for the moment he should leave the Capital until he reached it again in safety, the country would be in a patriotic unrest and uneasiness. The Journal feels free to make its statement as a Republican newspaper, and as one against whom the charge cannot be made that it would do or say anything against the largest public measure of honor to the distinguished dead. But Mr. Cleveland is not his own; he is not his party, he cannot be merely the dictate of his personal or political feelings. He is the nation's head; the only life between the Government and an interested him takes risks incidental to the rapid transit which would mark his journey from the National Capital to Indianapolis. Let the President go to Indianapolis, but let him not leave Washington, but the President should not leave Washington."

"ARREST NONSENSE."

WASHINGTON, November 27th.—The Post (Democrat) will say to-morrow: "Let Mr. Cleveland go to Indianapolis, but let him not leave Washington, but the President should not leave Washington."

The Presidency of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, November 27th.—A caucus of Republican Senators will be held Friday and Saturday of next week, at which a President pro tempore of the Senate will be nominated. The three candidates will be Sherman, Edmunds and Logan. While neither of these gentlemen will discuss the subject, and will take no personal part in the contest, it is not believed that any one of them would decline the honor of the office. Senator Logan's friends say that as he was the chief of the Republican party for the office of Vice-President, it is fitting that he should be elected by the Senate. The President pro tempore of the Senate will be elected by the Senate. The President pro tempore of the Senate will be elected by the Senate.

Honors to a Jewish Rabbi.

NEW YORK, November 27th.—Dr. Kohler, Rabbi of the Tenth Presbyterian Church, was called to a crowded congregation yesterday on the Sabbath. He was called to the pulpit to deliver a Thanksgiving service yesterday, when he delivered a sermon on the subject of "The Jewish Sabbath." He was called to the pulpit to deliver a sermon on the subject of "The Jewish Sabbath." He was called to the pulpit to deliver a sermon on the subject of "The Jewish Sabbath."

News of Peter Donahue's Death.

NEW YORK, November 27th.—The announcement of Peter Donahue's death caused a sensation among the Wall-Street gamblers who knew deceased. As far as can be learned Donahue was a gambler, and was connected with the Wall-Street gamblers who knew deceased. As far as can be learned Donahue was a gambler, and was connected with the Wall-Street gamblers who knew deceased.

A New Stock Exchange Proposed.

NEW YORK, November 27th.—J. D. Probst and Wm. Lummis, two prominent members of the New York Stock Exchange, are circulating a circular to their members, stating that in view of the fact that the dealings are largely increasing and the question of providing more room is again presenting itself, they urge that a new site be purchased and a new building erected to suffice for the future needs of the Exchange. If the total cost of the ground and building should be placed at $5,000,000, interest at 4 per cent, would be $200,000 annually, and the taxes $50,000, giving a total of $250,000. The new building would have 200 offices for rent and bring in a rental of $150,000. This proposition is being widely and favorably discussed in Wall Street to-day.

A Cadaver Missing.

ATLANTA, November 27th.—While the funeral of John Harvey was in progress it was noticed that the coffin was very light.

THE PRESIDENT ADVISED TO STAY IN WASHINGTON.

Georgia Prohibitionists—Faith Curless—The Chinese Question—Foreign Affairs.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

DOMESTIC.

Cabinet Meeting—The President's Message—Hendricks' Funeral.

WASHINGTON, November 27th.—The regular meeting of the Cabinet was held to-day. All the members were present. The President's message,

The RECORD-UNION is the only paper on the coast, outside of San Francisco, that receives a full Associated Press dispatch from all parts of the world. Outside of San Francisco it has no competitor, in point of numbers, in its home and general circulation throughout the coast.

SAFETY AND SECURITY.

L. F. FISHER is Sole Agent for this paper in San Francisco and vicinity. He is authorized to receive advertisements and subscriptions, and collect for the same. Rooms 21 and 22, Merchants' Exchange.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

In New York yesterday Government bonds were quoted at 124 1/2 for 4s of 1907; 115 1/2 for 4 1/2s; sterling, $1 82 1/4 8 1/2; 103 for 3s; silver bars, 102 1/2.

Silver in London, 47 1/2; consols, 100 15 1/4; 5 per cent. United States bonds, extended, 105 1/2; 127 1/2; 4 1/2, 115 1/2.

The mining share market was dull in San Francisco yesterday, and nearly all the stocks, both on the Comstock and outside lists, were lower. Hale & Norcross declined to $3.50.

The eight Indians convicted of murder in connection with the Riel rebellion, were executed yesterday at Battledore, N. W. T.

The British have gained another victory over the Boers.

The Presidential party will leave Washington Monday morning for Indianapolis, to attend the funeral of Vice-President Hendricks.

During the last seven days 199 business failures occurred in the United States.

Bartholdi, the French sculptor, has left New York for Paris.

The faith curists are holding a conference in Jersey City.

Mrs. Zoe Williams was found dead in her room at Saratoga, Santa Clara county, today.

Simon Pierce, convicted of murder of Joe A. McCarthy, was yesterday sentenced to San Francisco State Prison for life.

The President is earnestly advised by the In. dianapolis Journal not to leave the White House at this juncture.

A reaffirmation of the treaty with Siam has been received at Washington, through the Chinese Consul at New York.

A shocking outrage by Indians is reported from San Bernardino.

A caucus of Republican Senators will be held in Washington next week, to choose a President pro tem of the Senate.

The bridge over the Sacramento at Chico Landing has been badly damaged by high water.

A new stock exchange building is proposed in New York.

A Calcutta telegram announces the outbreak of a serious rebellion at Nepal.

The State Horticultural Society are indignant at the appointment of Boggs as Fruit Pest Inspector.

The body of the dead King of Spain was taken to the palace in Madrid yesterday, where it will lie in state until the day of the funeral.

The Bulgarians have driven the Servians back to Nissa, and the headquarters of Prince Alexander are now at Plovdiv.

The inside pages of today's RECORD-UNION will be found to contain much valuable and interesting reading matter.

DR. STEBBINS ON THE STANFORD UNIVERSITY.

In other columns this morning we print a sermon delivered by Rev. Horatio Stebbins, D. D., at San Francisco on the 22d instant on the scheme of the Leland Stanford, Junior, University, just endowed by Mr. and Mrs. Stanford. It will fully repay for perusal. It is one of those calm and logical but earnest reviews that command respect and suggest thought. Dr. Stebbins considers the grantors of the gift as the natural product of a new epoch of human affairs and of modern thought; an idea that has suggested itself to other minds, but has not before found expression nor been clearly thought out. The men of the class referred to are representative of the age, but in a higher and broader sense represent the essential divisions of the age which are set off and distinguished by the thought that molds the civilization of the hour. The age has produced other representative men, but only a few, who by their acts and foresight have indicated what the tendencies of the hour must lead to, and who have labored to meet the future, if the expression is permissible. The ages give birth to new epochs of thought, as Dr. Stebbins so well says, but these oftenest struggle into other ages before they are assimilated with the economy of civilization. But the thought of the new epoch, now referred to, is to be given vitality and active being by the foresight of Governor Stanford. The central thought of the hour and the day among thinking men is how best to advance the general intelligence and fortify the civilization of our country against the menace of ignorance, distrust and jealousy that finds expression in destructive theories of socialism and communism. Dr. Stebbins says: "We live in a period of social discontent. Taking men as they are, we possess of vast wealth brings with it the idea of power, rather than the idea of responsibility; the notion of right rather than the notion of duty." He then proceeds to point the truth that between these ideas is the choice to the student of human nature, whether he will retire to the citadel of self will, the rule of which is "I do as I will with my own," or whether "he will go forth undaunted in the genial air and climate of human feeling." The latter has been the choice of the founder of the new school that is to arise from the springs of his unselfish and lavish bounty. This conviction leads the speaker to exclaim, "I applaud our citizen that his great successes have increased his sympathies with his fellow men. I applaud him and esteem him most happy, that, in times of passionate prejudice or envious calumny, his good genius of patient silence has never deserted him, and that his firm confidence in the substantial honesty of men and their capacities for higher and higher good has never been disturbed. I congratulate him that in the sobriety of reason and faith he has been able to appeal from the empiric of the present to the judgment of future generations, and intrust his deeds and his motives to the impartial opinions of mankind! I take his proclamation and manifesto as a whole, as it is on paper, if you please, and in imagination I unfold its purpose as it shall be unfolded by the fostering care of a liberal age, and I see in it the fulfillment of Berkeley's prophetic hymn shadowing forth the coming greatness of the new world:

"There shall be sung another golden age. The rise of empire and of empire. The good and great inspiring age. The wisest have the noblest hearts."

Dr. Stebbins, while offering no detailed opinions regarding the educational scheme of the great benefaction, then proceeds, as recognition from the pulpit of the event, to review it as its importance justifies. It is not our purpose to mar the thoughtful and scholarly exposition that follows by any synoptical statement of it. We invite a full and careful reading of its measured and profoundly suggestive lines.

DR. CARPENTER.

Science and medicine lost a devoted friend in the death of Dr. Wm. B. Carpenter. Few men have done as much in modern days for the profession of their choice as this distinguished man. It is not mere formal comment to speak of him as eminent. He came of a family of eminent persons, endowed by nature with rare gifts for the benefit of his fellow-men. It was his father whose household laws were, "early rising, neatness, courtesy," and whose home produced sons and daughters every one of whom became prominent in science, or as philanthropists. These children were Susan, Mary, Anna, William Benjamin, Russell Lant, and Philip. All were compelled in early life by rude circumstance to work, and to work hard. They learned precisely what self-dependence means in all its fullness. Mary, as a philanthropist, became known throughout the civilized world; Philip rose to high distinction in scientific walks, and William became eminent in medicine, while the others all lived to high purpose and the good of man. As a student of medical jurisprudence Dr. Carpenter attracted wide attention at an early age. His "Principles of General and Comparative Physiology" became immediately on issuance an authority. His "Principles of Human Physiology" ran through seven editions, and a companion work through four. His work on "Alcoholic Liquors" is better known to the general public than anything he produced. He was widely known as President of the "British Association for the Advancement of Science," and also as a writer on many scientific topics in encyclopedias and public journals. His works are all simple in style, concise, clear, and to students are especially attractive. His researches have added largely to the fund of medical lore, and to him we are indebted for a number of valuable discoveries. He died recently at the age of 74, from the result of an accident that happened while he was pursuing scientific investigation. He was vigorous, and but for this accident it is altogether likely that he would have added still more to the debt of gratitude the world owes him. Monuments are raised to soldiers and statesmen, poets, orators, and public benefactors, and as one of this latter class the monumental shaft will be erected to the memory of Dr. Carpenter. But a far more enduring monument in his honor exists in the works he gave to the world and the additions he made to the sum of human knowledge.

The war against Rev. Dr. Crosby is red-hot in New York. The good doctor took the same view that was advocated in the RECORD-UNION, that high license is the speediest and best remedy for the unprecendently rapid growth of the liquor traffic. The noted divine is very bitterly assailed by the prohibitionists for his course, but he has such courage as springs from deep conviction, and he keeps "his end up" with wonderful vigor. He has been a life-long advocate of temperance, and now, finding prohibition growing less and less possible, he has opened a crusade against non-regulation, by advocating such a license system as will blot out two-thirds of the drinking booths of that Gomorrah. There is reason to believe that he will succeed. Among men in New York who have to this time given the drinking customs of the country little attention there is a growing disposition to put in operation some sort of machinery to choke off the thousands of vile resorts where crime is hatched, the poor are poisoned systematically, and wretchedness and misery made to order. With all such, the question is an economic one, however, for they find that the burdens of municipal government are increasing in exact ratio with the increase of intemperance. While they view prohibition as impracticable, they believe regulation is not.

MR. HARRASTHY takes issue with the San Francisco Merchant regarding the years' wine supply. The Merchant estimates the stock on hand 3,500,000 gallons. The vintage of 1885 it places at 7,500,000. It takes out 500,000 gallons for spoiled wines, leaving the available supply 10,500,000. The home consumption and export for brandy use it foots up 11,000,000, but Mr. Harrasthy, who is a reliable authority, figures thus: Export, 3,000,000; San Francisco consumption, 2,400,000; interior consumption, 1,500,000; for brandy the same; for sweet wines the same; total, 10,000,000. Bradstreet's estimate places the stock for consumption for twelve months at 9,500,000, which is 300,000 gallons more than the estimated demand. It may be set down therefore that there will be little or no wine carried over from this wine year to the next.

SAYS the Desert News (Mormon Church organ): "The efforts of the police to enforce the city ordinance against sexual immorality, which ought to receive the support of all who desire social order and the public welfare, are denounced, defied and hindered by those who have figured for some time past as the champions of morality. The News, of course, does not class plural wifery as sexual immorality, but since it is so declared by statute law, and it is so by the moral code, the remark of the News that the effort to suppress sexual immorality ought to receive support, is advice that, if taken, will end its own career and blot out the chief tenet of the faith of its Church. Sexual immorality, not religious freedom, is precisely what the people demand shall be suppressed."

The Oakland Tribune agrees with the RECORD-UNION that the selection of Mr. Boggs, of Napa, as Fruit-Pest Inspector is a bad move. It says that, scientifically speaking, Boggs knows no more about the business than the veriest tory. The fruit-growers were entitled to have an expert appointed, a practical entomologist, not a political schemer. It declares, as we also held, that no man not informed on the subject can study it up within the term of the office. It is certain that the object of the law in creating the office has been defeated by the appointment of Mr. Boggs. The Legislature contemplated the employment of a skilled person, and not the rewarding of a political partisan. If the purpose was to furnish a fat berth for an

HOLIDAY BOOKS.

SOME OF THE BEAUTIES OF THE BOOK PRESS.

What the Publishers are Providing for the Holiday Book Gifts.

In no land is there greater wealth of fine books for the holidays, than are given to the people each festive season from the book press of America. Some of these, out of the beautifully-printed and richly-mounted volumes of standard histories, political works and art volumes, and which are almost countless in their variety, are before us.

For the Christian reader, what could be more acceptable, for instance, than Rev. Dr. Thompson's "The Land and the Book." It is a royal octavo of over 700 pages of large, clear print, and profusely and richly illustrated. (New York: Harper & Brothers.) Dr. Thompson was forty-five years a missionary in Syria and Palestine, and his work was a life-long study of the Holy Land. It is a series of biblical illustrations drawn from the manners and customs, the scenes and scenery of that region.

From John B. Alden, New York, we have two more octavo gilt-top volumes of the works of John Ruskin, selling at $4.50 each. The first embraces "A Joy Forever," "Munera Pulveris," "Unto This Last," "The Two Paths," and "The Storm-Cloud," and the other, "Poems," "Golden River," and "Pleasures of England." Ruskin's works are a treasure-house of knowledge, but few readers are aware that in his early years he gave promise of high excellence as a poet, in the ordinary acceptance of the word. He, however, gave up verse-making before he had really passed from youth to early manhood.

The three lectures entitled "The Pleasures of the University of Oxford in 1872," by Ruskin, during his second tenure of the Slade Professorship. The clever little fairy story of "The King of the Golden River," was written in 1841, when the author was twenty-two. "The Eagle's Nest," or "Lectures on the Relation of Natural Science to Art," were delivered by the University of Oxford in 1872; and "Sesame and Lilies," suggestive essays on education, were originally put forth in 1865. "A Joy Forever," consists primarily of a couple of discourses delivered nearly thirty years ago, the subjects being "The Discovery and Application of Art and the Accumulation and Distribution of Art."

From the Century Company, New York, we have the two bound parts of "St. Nicholas," the youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

A good plan is that proposed in San Francisco, to set up powerful lights in the Chinese quarter in that city. The deeds done there shun the light.

For housewives, books devoted to housewifery will be particularly acceptable in the holiday season as gifts, even though less handsome in appearance than usual holiday books. Here, for instance, is Mrs. Washington's "Unrivalled Cook-Book and Housekeeper's Guide," issued by Harper & Bros., New York. It is largely compiled from the best of the best, and contains 200,000 receipts from a family in which they have been treasured for over a century. No other cook-book has been so carefully compiled, and the volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

HOLIDAY BOOKS.

SOME OF THE BEAUTIES OF THE BOOK PRESS.

What the Publishers are Providing for the Holiday Book Gifts.

In no land is there greater wealth of fine books for the holidays, than are given to the people each festive season from the book press of America. Some of these, out of the beautifully-printed and richly-mounted volumes of standard histories, political works and art volumes, and which are almost countless in their variety, are before us.

For the Christian reader, what could be more acceptable, for instance, than Rev. Dr. Thompson's "The Land and the Book." It is a royal octavo of over 700 pages of large, clear print, and profusely and richly illustrated. (New York: Harper & Brothers.) Dr. Thompson was forty-five years a missionary in Syria and Palestine, and his work was a life-long study of the Holy Land. It is a series of biblical illustrations drawn from the manners and customs, the scenes and scenery of that region.

From John B. Alden, New York, we have two more octavo gilt-top volumes of the works of John Ruskin, selling at $4.50 each. The first embraces "A Joy Forever," "Munera Pulveris," "Unto This Last," "The Two Paths," and "The Storm-Cloud," and the other, "Poems," "Golden River," and "Pleasures of England." Ruskin's works are a treasure-house of knowledge, but few readers are aware that in his early years he gave promise of high excellence as a poet, in the ordinary acceptance of the word. He, however, gave up verse-making before he had really passed from youth to early manhood.

The three lectures entitled "The Pleasures of the University of Oxford in 1872," by Ruskin, during his second tenure of the Slade Professorship. The clever little fairy story of "The King of the Golden River," was written in 1841, when the author was twenty-two. "The Eagle's Nest," or "Lectures on the Relation of Natural Science to Art," were delivered by the University of Oxford in 1872; and "Sesame and Lilies," suggestive essays on education, were originally put forth in 1865. "A Joy Forever," consists primarily of a couple of discourses delivered nearly thirty years ago, the subjects being "The Discovery and Application of Art and the Accumulation and Distribution of Art."

From the Century Company, New York, we have the two bound parts of "St. Nicholas," the youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

A good plan is that proposed in San Francisco, to set up powerful lights in the Chinese quarter in that city. The deeds done there shun the light.

For housewives, books devoted to housewifery will be particularly acceptable in the holiday season as gifts, even though less handsome in appearance than usual holiday books. Here, for instance, is Mrs. Washington's "Unrivalled Cook-Book and Housekeeper's Guide," issued by Harper & Bros., New York. It is largely compiled from the best of the best, and contains 200,000 receipts from a family in which they have been treasured for over a century. No other cook-book has been so carefully compiled, and the volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill and the best literary talent of the whole country are drawn upon for the pages of this work. The volume contains thirteen serial stories and papers that are illustrated and a host of short stories by such writers as Frank Stockton, Julia Schayes, Nora Holt, and others. The volume is a treasure-house of knowledge, and the illustrations are by the late Helen Hunt Jackson, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. B. Russell, and others.

For the young people of America, the "St. Nicholas" youths' illustrated magazine (Vol. XII, November, 1884, to April, 1885, and Vol. XIII, May, 1885, to October, 1885). The editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, has achieved wonderful success in the conduct of this monthly magazine, and among the boys and girls of America it is a great favorite. The best artistic skill

